Winning first place in our industry shows that we are well-prepared for the recruitment challenges in the coming years. First and foremost we want to increase our profile on the labor market, select applicants according to target groups, make use of the best possible combination of recruitment channels and our HR Managers will take care of the applicants in the finest way possible during the entire recruitment and on-boarding process. Additionally we will of course also be focusing on improving our internal and external processes in the future. It is really great to see these consistent efforts now being appreciated and showing results."
